

MALVERN COLLEGE EGYPT

... Defining Excellence

With a history dating back over 150 years, Malvern College in the spa town of Worcestershire has consistently ranked as one of the leading schools in the United Kingdom since its inception. Starting with only two dozen boys and half a dozen masters when it opened in January 1865, the College is now a leading independent co-educational boarding and day school, turning out happy, balanced individuals who will achieve personal fulfilment at university, at work and in society at large.

Academic learning is the main focus, but equally, the co-curriculum embraces an extensive sporting, musical, artistic and dramatic programme which encourages pupils to maximise their potential. This ethos remains in place, both in the mother College, and Malvern College's first overseas schools, Malvern College Qingdao, which opened in 2012, and a second school in Chengdu, south-western China, which opened in September 2015. Malvern College Hong Kong will open in 2018.

Malvern College Egypt will open in Cairo in August 2016, to offer the same valued traditions and pioneering approach to educational development that have allowed pupils to achieve a splendid set of examination results and admission to the most highly regarded universities both in the UK and internationally. A highly qualified academic staff encourages a scholarly approach in pupils while nurturing in them the habits and skills of independent learning, equipping them not only for success at school, but also at university and in their future careers.

Headmaster, Duncan Grice, introduces the College:

Malvern College's Strengths

We value people. Yes, learning is our core business, but it is also about the development of the whole child and their interests. The College is based around four main pillars; academic excellence, to which we recruit only the best UK trained teaching staff, sport, music and the arts. All our students are encouraged to take advantage of our extensive co-curricular activities to learn and pursue new skills.

Admissions and Curriculum

The primary teaching language is English. We offer an enhanced form of the English National Curriculum, which is enquiry-based yet also maintains structure for academic rigour. The child is put at the centre of their learning through a focus on key learning skills which will prepare our students for later examination courses.

Our Egyptian students will have to study some subject areas in line with the Ministry of Education regulations. Initially we will open from Nursery to Year 9.

We offer a choice of academic pathways to suit each child, offering IGCSE, A Levels as well as the IBDP. This allows different students to elect different routes, thus increasing the likelihood of them attending the university of their choice. We will also offer comprehensive university counselling so that parents and students know which universities they should approach and when to have the best chance of gaining entry to their desired higher learning institute.

Creating Outstanding Members of the Community

Malvern College is about people; the well being, development and contentment of our entire community. From our approach to learning, discipline, respect and politeness, I believe we are offering something different and unique. Students' opinions are valued. We genuinely listen to them individually and collectively through student councils, environment councils and through our House system which covers charities, sport, fund-raising and many other activities the students wish to engage in.

A Malvern education is about producing young people who are confident, respectful individuals who have a positive attitude towards learning which in turn helps them become successful and happy in life.
